

Message from the Scout Executive

Dear Media Member:

For 100 years, the Boy Scouts of America has been an organization that communities across our nation have turned to in order to prepare our youth for a future of leadership, confidence, character and achievement.

We now turn to you to share in our success and join us in celebrating our 100th Anniversary. Our Scouting families have stories to share, from service projects conducted in our communities to hardships overcome because there was a support system like Scouting in place to make a difference.

Included in this package is a brief overview of all our local Scout Council has planned during this 100th Anniversary year - from food drives and tree planting ceremonies, to celebratory events. It's only a snapshot of Scouting, but Scouting comes to life in our community through the thousands of young people who participate in the program and the thousands of volunteer adult leaders who deliver it.

Join us during the many local events and initiatives we have planned throughout 2010 as we Celebrate the Adventure and Continue the Journey.
